Refurbishment Process

Care for Clean

One of the biggest threats in a hospital comes from hospital associated infection causing bacteria. To battle the bacteria, Bed Tech invented a process to coat bed rails and high-touch surfaces with a durable yet attractive copper coating.

Antimicrobial copper naturally kills more than 99.9% of bacteria¹ within two hours and continues to kill 99% of bacteria after repeated contamination. Copper is proven to continuously reduce contamination between regular cleanings in the fight to break the chain of infection.

Bed Tech is the only solution for 100% Antimicrobial coverage of high-touch surfaces on all acute-care bed makes and models. Copper bed rails are an option that can be added to any of the refurbished beds. The copper can also be applied to your existing beds and bed rails quickly and affordably, with very little downtime.
